Academic education

1973	Diploma, TU Dresden
1973-76	Aspirant, Lomonossov University Moscow
1976	PhD, Lomonossov University Moscow
	Advisor: Mark Freidlin
	Thesis title: On the logarithmic asymptotics of large deviation probabilities
1984	Habilitation at Karl-Weierstraß-Institut für Mathematik of the Academy of Sciences of the GDR (WIAS)

Academic positions

1976-85	Research associate, WIAS Berlin
1985-95	Head of the probability group at WIAS Berlin
1986	Facultas Docendi, TU Dresden
1988	Professor at Academy of Sciences of the GDR
1991-1993	Visiting professor at TU Berlin
1992-2011	Professor (C4) at TU Berlin
2011	Retirement

Fields of interest

- Large deviations
- Interacting particle systems
- Traveling waves (KPP Equation)
- McKean-Vlasov Equation
- Parabolic Anderson Model

Invited lectures

- Invited lecturer at the first European Congress of Mathematicians 1992, Paris

„Parabolic problems in random media and intermittency"
- Invited speaker at International Congress of Mathematicians 1994, Zürich „Parabolic systems in random media and aspects of intermittency"

Main collaborators

- Mark Freidlin (University of Maryland)
- Donald A. Dawson (Carleton University)
- Stanislav A. Molchanov (University of North Carolina)
- Wolfgang König (TU Berlin)
- Frank den Hollander (Leiden University)

Editorship

1984-1992   Member of the editorial board of Probability Theory and Related Fields
1990-2000   Member of the editorial board of Mathematische Nachrichten
